

Spring's Newest Coats

We have just returned from market and bought dozens of handsome new coats that are the last word in style. Coats in the very new shades including tans, rookies, greys, new shades of blue, gold, etc. The materials used are velours, camel's hair, gabardines and poplins. We were able to get hold of a lot of sample coats that we shall sell at special prices. No two coats alike here.

TALK OF THE TOWN

G. Cerutti, a Ryegate granite manufacturer, was a business visitor in the city yesterday and today.

Mrs. Fred M. Whitney and son, Philip M. Whitney, returned this morning to their home in Northfield after visiting friends in the city.

Clinton F. Millar, Barre superintendent for the M. & B. L. & P. Co., has been elected exalted ruler of Montpelier lodge of Elks, being the first among Barre members of the lodge to be honored in that fashion.

Two men and two bottles of Black and White were lined up before Magistrate H. W. Scott in city court this morning as the result of a move made yesterday by Constable G. L. Morris. Malcolm McAuley of Granville, listed as an habitual drunkard, acknowledged a subsequent offense and arranged to pay a fine of $10 and costs. Daniel F. McLean of Cabot admitted a first offense and paid the minimum fine and costs. The respondents disclosed on three licenses.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Friends in Barre of Bernard O. Lee, who has been training with the Baltimore Orioles baseball team will be interested to learn that he is back in his Irasburg home for a few days' visit.

Frank Smith of Swanton was a business visitor in the city yesterday and today. George Streeter of West Berlin was a business visitor in the city this morning. P. J. Ryan of St. Albans was a business visitor in the city yesterday and today.

Miss Frances Gorham, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clifford Caswell of 8 Maple Grove street, during the past 10 days, returned today to St. Anne de Bellevue, P. Q., where she is a student at Macdonald college, to resume her studies after the Easter recess. She was accompanied as far as Montreal by her sister, Miss Edith Gorham of Montreal, who has been visiting for a time with Mrs. Caswell. Miss Edna Gorham of Jefferson street is spending a few weeks visiting relatives in St. John, P. Q.

TALK OF THE TOWN

A daughter was born this morning at the City hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Ira N. Houston of Maple avenue.

A son weighing 11 pounds was born Thursday, April 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Basilio Dente of North Main street.

William F. Richards of Bristol arrived in the city last evening to spend the week end visiting friends on Brook street. Homer Fitts of Park street, who has been confined to the house during the past five weeks and during the past month unable to be about the house, remains in about the same condition.

"War Declared; Sacrifices Necessary to Support of Our Nation, Our President and Congress," theme at the Presbyterian church to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock. Miss McHardy will sing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

John R. Bancroft, who has acted as a page at the Vermont legislature during the past session and who has been staying with his grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Wilson of North Main street, during the winter, left last evening for his home in East Calais.

With the end of Passover week at sundown yesterday, Hebrews in Barre who have been observing the festival in special ways, have ceased their devotions. Consumption of leavened bread, from which orthodox members of the faith have abstained for seven days, is resumed and thoughts of the deliverance of the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage do not form so large a part of Hebrew meditation until another Passover arrives. Hebrew students of the world war regarded the Passover just ended as being of unusual significance inasmuch as it marked the deliverance of many Russian Jews from their oppressors.

Ladies of the Bethany class at the Baptist church held a social last evening at the church parlors. The social was in the form of a track meet and games which were played were like this sport in some respects, the boys of the church performing the feats. A candy booth, trimmed in red and white and under the supervision of Miss Ruby Lewis, proved to be a great drawing card and added greatly to the treasury. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served by a committee of the class. A program carefully arranged was enjoyed through the latter part of the evening. It consisted of readings by Howard Geake and Miss Ethel Inglis, vocal solos by Miss Ruby Lewis and Douglas Inglis, and a piano solo by Margaret Geake.

Among the old articles which come under the head of police confiscation and are condemned and turned over to the officers at headquarters for destruction is a walking stick of a type which was widely sought and often flourished in the halcyon days of prohibition in Vermont. Older members of the Ancient and Exalted Order of Split Drinkers have recognized in the little souvenir confided to the keeping of the chief a device that in their sight is infinitely more useful than a combination shoe horn, steak pounder, zinct and corker. The magic cane is finished in rosewood and except for an unusually rugged looking head and its sudden taper toward the point, it has an innocent appearance that belies its real iniquity. If you are wise enough to tip the head of the cane to your hip a little river of red rye is apt to trickle down your throat as a reward for your act of intelligence. Although, pursuant to instructions from the courts, the contents of the walking stick have been destroyed, the cane itself is being preserved intact.

Because our coconut shredding machine is too large, one feature of the home-made confectionery exhibit at Laws' candy shop has been omitted, but you are invited to attend the coconut opening and enjoy some of the delicious creations made from the fresh coconut. Special Saturday prices. Remember, "the taste tells" at Laws'.

Goddard seminary's baseball squad enjoyed its first day in the open yesterday afternoon when Coach Hoenle put the regulars and aspirants through their sprouts in batting practice. The condition of the campus leaves much to be desired, but by the end of next week the team will have gained a good deal of practice in anticipation of the first game a fortnight hence.

Harry Smith of East Orange was a visitor in the city yesterday while on his way home, after passing a few days at Fort Ethan Allen, where he offered himself as a volunteer in the service of the nation. Mr. Smith was rejected for minor physical defect, which he will have remedied as soon as he sees a dentist, and after that he expects to submit to a second examination for the service. Mr. Smith has a son who is a guardsman.

The music and art department of the Barre Woman's club wishes to announce that on account of the illness of Mrs. Blodgett the concert planned for Monday evening has been postponed, but a musical and literary program will be given by the department on Tuesday afternoon at 2:45. Following the program Miss Annie Davis will give a talk "Nursing Our School Children." Miss Davis is in town in connection with the work of medical inspection in our schools.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: Mrs. A. L. Eddy and Mrs. A. E. Covell of Northfield, J. O. Sheldon of Woodsville, N. H., Dr. H. N. Jackson of Burlington, H. G. Elrod of St. Albans, L. W. Lewis of Barton, R. J. McKay of New York, Mrs. Fred N. Whitney, P. M. Whitney of Northfield, F. J. Chandler of Newport, N. H., G. F. Cerutti of South Ryegate, Vallie B. Martin and Constance Nolan of New York and R. J. Laird of Princeton, N. J.

Announcement is made here of the wedding in Burlington Thursday evening of Miss Mary M. E. Sucktorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sucktorf of that city, and Henry A. McCauley of Barre, the marriage having been celebrated in St. Paul's church, the pastor, Rev. G. W. Davenport, officiating. The bride's sister, Miss Ella Sucktorf, and Silas O. Brush attended the couple and the bride was given in marriage by her father. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the couple received their friends and were warmly congratulated. Girl employees of the telephone company in Burlington were present at the reception to assist. Mr. and Mrs. McCauley are making their home on Spaulding street in this city, where the former has been engaged for some time as manager of the Vermont Fruit Co., which has its storage depot on Granite street.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to my friends and neighbors for the cards, fruit, flowers, etc., which they so kindly sent during my illness.
